Show Them A Mountain And They'll Do The Rest

Edward Feuz (left) holds that "the climbing urge" is a heritage of all white races, be the objective high furniture for an infant; a tree-top for a schoolboy; or the pinnacles of success or the summit of a mountain for an adult. He ought to know, for he makes his living as a mountain guide in the heart of the famous Canadian Rocky Mountains, with headquarters at the Canadian Pacific Railway's hotels at Banff and Lake Louise, and has more "first ascents" to his credit than any other man in the country. His brother Ernest (right) is also an experienced guide and mountaineer. Both are natives of Interlaken, Switzerland, and have winter-homes in the little Swiss guide village of Edelweiss, in the Columbia Valley. They are shown scanning the peaks adjoining the Banff Springs Hotel.

Plans for Aug. 6 Cancelled

The Garden Club Committee of the Women's Institute having found general conditions unfavorable, have decided to cancel the plans for Wednesday next, August 6th, until a more favorable opportunity presents.

A New Detachment House.

The prospect of having the local A.P. Police detachment moved down town appears to be good at present. The Department has been negotiating for some time for the purchase of the residence of Mr. Lawrence Wight, on Railroad ave, and it is said the transfer is about to be completed. Mr. Wight and family are moving to Edmonton on or about August 1, where Mr. Wight has his business headquarters.

The Heatherdown Dance.

The dance at Heatherdown hall last week was quite a success, drawing a good crowd from Stony, as Barths were playing. While returning from the dance about 3k. the next morning Messrs E Dannhauer and G. Miller had the misfortune to overturn their coupe about 2 miles west of Stony Stony on the Baseline. While sailing along at about twenty m.p.h., and on coming over a knoll, they noticed a wagon and team right ahead driven by a local farmer who was making an early start for the City. The left fender of the coupe caught the wagon wheel which overturned the car. The occupants were thrown out and sustained slight injuries, but what happened to the poor coupe was quite noticeable.

Speedsters on the Gravel.

While Mr C Gaebel of Edmonton was motoring to his cottage at Seba in his Buick touring about 9:30 Saturday evening, and had just passed the residence of Reeve Goerz on the Baseline, he collided with a Chevrolet sedan driven by Anton Tyrkalo of Blueberry district. The cars had come together with some force, as both were damaged pretty extensively, eliminating the front wheels of each and curling up their fenders etc. The wreck crew from the Stony Plain Motors were quickly on the scene, and after removing the splintered wood from the debris, towed both cars to the hospital, where they underwent repairs.

Another accident happened Saturday afternoon near Blueberry corner, when Mrs Jenkins who was driving with her two children in a car with a Washington license, had the misfortune to have her car take a header off the grade and plunge over the bank for about ten feet. Aid was given by young Mr Goerz who resides nearby. A phone call to the city brought out a service truck, which conveyed the car, lady and two children to Edmonton.

Canada Has Maintained Lead In Silver Fox Ranching Industry, Which Is Steadily Growing

Canada was the first to develop the breeding of silver foxes in captivity and she has no maintained her position in this respect, she is regarded as a world-leader by all other countries, whose representatives periodically visit the Dominion in search of knowledge and advice in the conduct of similar undertakings. While silver fox ranching has been exploited here and there by individuals who have been stressing its financial possibilities, yet the industry as a whole has developed along sound and economic lines, due in the first place to the foresight of the pioneers and to the valid and conservative methods of the fox breeders of Prince Edward Island who nursed the silver fox industry through its infancy.

The Canadian National Silver Fox Breeders' Association is the largest breed society in the Dominion and registers annually a larger number of pedigreed animals than is to be found in any other species of live stock. The 70,883 silver fox pups born in 1929, and registered by this association, are descended from less than a score of silver foxes taken from the wild by the pioneer breeders. The remarkable growth of the silver fox industry is indicated by the figures of the last four years, taken from Canadian Live Stock records, of silver fox pups registered by the above association: 1926, 32,355; 1927, 39,707; 1928, 51,624; 1929, 70,883.

While Prince Edward Island is still the cradle and the home of the industry, silver fox ranching is being firmly established in practically every province of the Dominion, and is operating on a very large scale, more particularly in the province of Quebec. Silver fox ranching has also become established in a great number of European countries, and heavy shipments of live foxes are made annually from Canada, 2,558 having been exported from Prince Edward Island alone in 1929.

While there has been a larger sale of live silver foxes as breeding stock during the last few years than ever before, yet these animals represent only about 25 per cent. of the silver foxes produced. The main function of silver fox ranching is the production of pelts. In fact, large number of the ranches are no longer interested in the sale of live foxes. As a consequence there has been a rapid increase in the number of silver fox pelts coming into the market, but, as the number has increased, a wider and more general interest has been shown in silver fox furs by the fur buyers and by the fur trade as a whole. This has resulted, generally speaking, in a steady increase in the prices obtained for silver fox furs. Of course, as was to be expected, the financial stringency of last autumn had a marked effect on the prices of all pelts at the December and January fur sales, but silver fox furs were less affected than any other class.

During the last two decades of the 19th century before foxes were raised in captivity, it has been estimated that between 2,000 and 3,000 silver fox pelts were placed upon the market annually. For the past two years over 100,000 silver fox pelts have been absorbed each year by the fur trade, and, as the number of captured wild animals has not increased, it is estimated that wild pelts comprise only about 2,000 of this number. This estimate is confirmed by the fact that at the different fur auctions pelts of wild foxes formed less than two per cent. of the total offerings.

Regulate Imports Of Grain

Matter Will Come Up At Imperial Conference In London

The highly important matters of a board to control imports and schemes for bulk purchase of agricultural commodities will not be overlooked when the Imperial Conference assembles in London, England in the coming autumn. Rt. Hon. J. H. Thomas, Secretary for the Dominions, assured a questioner in the British House of Commons.

These questions, which have been under discussion in British politics for some time, have not been placed on the agenda. Mr. Thomas explained the agenda for the conference was a matter on which agreement must be reached between the governments taking part. He gave assurance the questions would not be dismissed without consideration. The questioner probably had in mind the suggestions that a board should be set up to regulate imports of grain.

Grain By Bay Route

Seventy-One Years Ago Grain Was Imported From Britain Into Hudson Bay

Workers are toiling today on the steel and concrete framework of the grain elevator at Churchill, to aid in the movement of the 1931 wheat crop over the Hudson Bay route. But 71 years ago the Bay route was used for the shipment of wheat—at that time to the prairies which now supply consumers in all parts of the world.

In 1859 some eleven thousand bushels of wheat and seven thousand bushels of flour were imported for prairie settlers. The bulk of these supplies came to Red River (now Winnipeg), in the round-bottomed sailing vessels which braved the dangers of the northern route. Seventeen years later Manitoba shipped out its first wheat down the river to Duluth, Minnesota, and thence by rail to Toronto.

In the interim the western prairies have swelled their grain producing expanses until half-billion bushel crops have become an actuality. And advancing trade is preparing to move out over a bay route used by grandfathers of folk who toil today.

Soil Scientists Are Meeting In Russia

As Tribute To Work Which Has Been Carried Out There

People who are still thinking of Soviet Russia in terms of whistles and bombs may be called upon to change their views within the next few years and a recent announcement seems to point rather definitely in this direction. This summer the annual convention of the International Society of Soil Scientists will be held in Russia as a tribute to the soil work which has been carried on there in recent years.

The Russian school of soil scientists has attained a position as a result of its work, which is now considered second to none in the world and the holding of this convention in Russia speaks volumes for it is of American origin and our neighbors to the south are not noted for giving credit where credit is not due if it is outside of their own borders.

New Grievance Against Autos

Farmers of Scotland have found a new grievance against the automobile. Entries to the fall fairs this year are to be few because, they say, the increasing number of cars make it unsafe to drive their choice livestock along the highways leading to the events. Some sheep owners plan to buy machines to transport their exhibits.

Part of Plato's philosophy was to the effect that the mind was always superior to the body and should at all times control it.

Pale Western Cutworm One Of Worst Pests With Which Farmers Have To Contend

The pale western cutworm is one of the worst insect pests with which the farmers of Alberta and Saskatchewan have to contend. Its presence in a field in the spring depends entirely on the condition of that field during August and early September of the previous season. For this reason, this warning is issued so that farmers in these two provinces may prepare their fields this summer to avoid trouble next spring.

The weather conditions during the early season of 1930 have been such as to practically ensure an enormous increase of the pale western cutworm over a large area in both Alberta and Saskatchewan. In fact, it appears now as though these provinces would have the most widespread and devastating outbreak of this insect that has ever occurred.

The outbreak will be most severe in Alberta from Edmonton south to the Lethbridge-Medicine Hat line of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and east of the McLeod-Edmonton line. There will undoubtedly be some increase south of Lethbridge and Medicine Hat and farmers in that area will do well to handle their fields accordingly.

In Saskatchewan the outbreak will probably be quite general from Saskatoon south to the border. The most severe damage will probably occur in a 100 mile radius of Regina. The isolated local outbreaks which occurred in 1930 over the rest of Saskatchewan and of a north and south line through Indian Head and Abernethy will probably increase in intensity and spread in all directions so as to make a general outbreak with severe conditions scattered through it.

Wherever possible, farmers are urged to keep entirely off their fields from the first of August until the middle of September. Summerfallow should be well worked during July so that all weed growth is destroyed and then left untouched. No stock should be allowed to run on the land and no machinery taken across it.

The adult moths of the pale western cutworm lay their eggs during August and early September. The eggs are always laid in soft, dusty soil and any fields which have the soil surface slightly crusted will be largely avoided by the moths. In most soils a light rain is sufficient to form this protective crust and if the last cultivation is followed by such a rain the crust that is formed should not be broken in any way.

Fields which are in crop that must be harvested during August will have the surface crust destroyed by these operations and the cutworms will be present there next spring. If the crop is such that it can be left until the middle of September or can be cut and stacked before the first of August nothing should be allowed to disturb the soil crust between those dates.

The entire problem during a pale western cutworm outbreak can be simply expressed as follows:

1. Any fields in which the soil surface is crusted and undisturbed from the first of August to the middle of September will be reasonably free of cutworms the following spring.

2. Any fields in which the soil surface crust is broken or disturbed between the first of August and the middle of September, are reasonably sure to be infested with cutworms the following spring. If such fields are seeded the crop will probably be destroyed.

The only hope of growing crops successfully over the outbreak area in 1931 if the foregoing recommendations are not followed depends entirely on the spring rainfall. Wet season during next May and June with frequent heavy rains may reduce the amount of damage. When the soil is wet the pale western cutworm does not feed as heavily or destroy as many plants as it does when the soil is dry.

More detailed information can be secured by writing to the Dominion entomological laboratory at Lethbridge, Alberta; Saskatoon, Saskatchewan; Indian Head, Saskatchewan; or Trebbach, Manitoba.

Study Sheep Industry

Will Make Economic Survey Of Sheep Raising In The West

Dr. J. H. Grisdale has announced an economic survey of the sheep raising industry in Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia this summer. The Agricultural Economics Branch and the Experimental Farms of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, will co-operate in carrying out the survey. This survey, which will include a complete study of conditions in the sheep ranching industry, marks the beginning of a program of research work in agricultural economics on behalf of the Livestock industry. It is anticipated that between 150 and 200 sheep ranches will be visited in the three provinces. Departmental experts will be assisted by representatives of the respective Provincial governments and of Livestock Associations in carrying out the work of the survey.

Favourite Canadian Apples

McIntosh, Spy, Gravenstein, Delicious and Baldwin Are the Favourites

Canada has a wide range of apple varieties and the question as to which of these is the most popular provides a good deal of interest. In a survey conducted by the Fruit Branch of the Dominion Department of Agriculture, the McIntosh was shown to have a marked preference in Canada generally. Next came the Spy, then the Gravenstein, then Delicious, and then the Baldwin.

Anxious To Capture Market In Canada

Australia Makes First Shipment Of Oranges For Distribution

The first shipment of Australian oranges to enter Vancouver, 5,000 cases from Sydney, N.S.W., was unloaded recently for distribution at various points throughout the Dominion.

To capture the Canadian market for Australian orange growers is the aim of the wholesale fruit distributors organization of Sydney, which two months ago sent W. H. Pierce here to pave the way for the drive.

Claiming that the Australian fruit surpasses the best from the United States, the fruit growers of New South Wales believe that their product will quickly win a large share of the market that the United States producers now enjoy.

When Aviators Trespass

Judge Rules People Own Air Five Hundred Feet Up

Aviators must fly at least 500 feet high to avoid trespassing on property over which they pass. Federal Judge George P. Hahn, of Cleveland, Ohio, ruled in a precedent setting decision.

The decision was on a bill of complaint brought a year ago by two suburban property holders against the Curtiss Airport Corporation, the Ohio Air Terminals Company and the Curtiss Flying Service. The complaint cited the ancient Roman legal principle, "Whosoever controls land controls it from the centre of the earth to the zenith," and sought an order forbidding planes to pass over the property.

Judge Hahn ruled that the "effective possession" of such property extends only 500 feet up.

Banded Bird Law

Co-Operation With Proper Authorities Is Required

It is important that any person who finds a banded bird report the fact to the National Parks of Canada Branch, Department of the Interior, Ottawa, giving the species of the bird, band number, date and locality of occurrence, and information as to whether the bird was found dead, was killed, or was released alive still wearing its band. Persons reporting banded birds will be informed promptly respecting the place and time of banding.

Novel Attempt To Escape From Prison

Robber Serving Sentence In Sing Sing Served Up In Mattress

A novel method of attempting escape from Sing Sing prison was uncovered when guards found Jack Levy within a mattress made in the prison factory. Levy, small and middle-aged robber, almost got away with it. He would now be on his way to freedom but for the curiosity of Victor Brown, keeper-chauffeur, who thought a pile of mattresses on his truck looked suspiciously too-sided although it had been twice inspected by other guards.

Brown summoned Principal Keeper Sheehy and a search was instituted. Sheehy ripped open one misshapen mattress and discovered Levy. Levy had a razor with which to cut his way out, and a hammer. The robber will be sent to Clinton prison, Dannemore, N.Y. His attempted escape will put back his earliest possible date of release to 1952. Levy was sewed into the mattress from the outside. His accomplice has not been found.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

AUGUST 3

NAOMI AND RUTH

Golden Text: "And He made of one every nation of men to dwell on all the face of the earth."—Acts 17, 26.

Lesson: The Book of Ruth. Devotional Reading: Isaiah 61:1-7.

Explanations and Comments

The Beginning Of The Story, 1:13.—In the days of the Judges there was a famine in the land of Canaan, and to escape it a Bethlehemite, Elimelech, and his wife Naomi, and their two sons, left their home and settled in Moab across the Jordan. The Jews have a legend to the effect that Elimelech was of a princely house, a descendant of Aaminadab, the father-in-law of Aaron, that he was wealthy, and left the country in order to preserve his wealth intact, for he was afraid of being besieged by his starving brethren.

In Moab the two sons married daughters of that alien land, Ruth and Orpah. Ten years passed, father and sons found their graves there, and Naomi, now poor, whatever she had been in Bethlehem, determined to return to her native land. Farewells seldom take place in the home in eastern lands, and Ruth and Orpah carried out the usual custom when they accompanied Naomi to her new home. Naomi thought they had gone far enough to show her fitting respect, she stopped to dismiss them. With tears and kisses she bade them return to their homes and let her go on her way alone.

Ruth's Great Decision, verses 14-18.—Though it grieved Orpah to part with her mother-in-law, she kissed her and returned as Naomi had urged her to do. Ruth, however, clung to Naomi. With all her power Naomi sought to dissuade Ruth from accompanying her. "Behold," she said, "thy sister-in-law is gone back unto her people, and unto her god (Chemoah); return thou after thy sister-in-law." In answer Ruth uttered those beautiful words which have become so famous through the ages; "Entreat me not to leave thee, and to return from following after thee: whithersoever thou goest I will go; where thou lodgest, I will lodge; thy people shall be my people, and thy God my God." The ancient belief was that each people had its own god, and that in going to another land one must necessarily serve the god of that land; compare 1 Samuel 26, 19.

"Ruth was a Moabitess, of an accursed race, who according to the law of Moses was not allowed to enter the congregation of the covenant. While this story finally teaches that no such disability remains when such a God is exercised, we must not forget the difficulty as it existed for Ruth; how the people would be likely to look at her, how she herself, as she came into contact with the religion of the Hebrew people, would realize the greatness of her distance. Again, there was nothing calculated to allure her from the standpoint of material prosperity. Those she had known of the people of Jehovah had been compelled to leave their land on account of famine. From them she knew of the perils of those who had remained in the land, and all the sadness of their condition. She came back with Naomi into poverty, and to people who in all probability were hostile to them both."—G. Campbell Morgan.

"Large is the life that flows from others' sake, and all the nobility of its best, its noblest effort makes; Devotion rounds the man and makes him whole; Love is the measure of the human soul."—James Buckham.

Captain Sherlock Has Newest Air Record

Flies Mail Plane 1,500 Miles In One Day Making Five Stops

Record achievements in the air are just part of the day's work in the north country. The newest feat, unheralded almost among the brilliant exploits of the sub-Arctic fliers, is that of Captain W. N. Sherlock, Commercial Airways pilot. In less than a day he flew the mail from Fort McMurray, in northern Alberta, to Aklayik, on the topmost rim of Canada—some 1,500 miles—making five delivery stops en route.

Son of Sir Francis and Lady Sherlock, Irton Hall, Cumberland, England, Captain Sherlock is a former member of the Royal Air Force. He has seen war and peace-time service in France, India, Egypt and Mesopotamia. Before joining the Commercial Airline, he was a member of the flying staff of Dominion Explorers.

On the morning of June 29, at 5:45 o'clock, Captain Sherlock took off from Fort McMurray air base, flying a Bellanca Pacemaker. Less than 21 hours later, at 2:25 o'clock the next morning, with the midnight-sun casting its twilight glow, he landed at Aklayik, within the Arctic circle. On his way, he made postal deliveries at Fort Resolution, Fort Simpson, Fort Norman, Fort McPherson and Arctic Red River along the rushing Mackenzie River.

Captain Sherlock's flight—just one of the records set up by fearless airmen speeding to and fro across the barrens of the northwest—was the first one-day flight from Alberta to Aklayik.

Wit and Philosophy

Puns are not always properly attributed to their original author—possibly because puns have been condemned as the lowest form of wit. But some are worthy to live. Here is one which sums up whole systems of philosophy, but it was originally aimed at George Berkeley's (1685-1753) ventenations regarding matter and mind:

TRAIL OF DEATH FOLLOWS QUAKE IN SOUTH ITALY

Naples.—Amid the vine-clad hills of the Apennines the simple peasant folk of southern Italy had counted their dead to the number of 170 in half a score of towns tumbled to ruins by a series of terrific earthquakes.

Government estimates placed the injured at more than a thousand, and the homeless at ten times that figure. Medi, picturesque mountain city, perched perilously upon the crater of the extinct Monte Vulture, was an area of ghastly debris. Even the ancient cathedral whose history in its several phases goes back to the ninth century, was wrecked.

The almost inaccessible nature of some of the areas devastated made difficult the work of succor and the estimation of casualties. Most of the towns hit the hardest are off the beaten paths of tourists, with poor transportation and almost inaccessible altitude.

Several supply trains have been sent to points on the railroads in the interior from Naples and hundreds of relief workers were penetrating the recesses of the agricultural area, offering relief to the still terror-stricken victims.

The quake stunned all Italy. It was the worst earthquake since Messina was all but obliterated in 1908. The first shock came an hour after midnight. Its own awful nature was supplemented by a tremendous electrical storm over, virtually the whole affected area.

The shaken area extended from the Tyrrhenian sea to the Adriatic, but the coast settlements suffered less in proportion than the mountain populations. Naples experienced several hours of panic with several houses and scores of casualties. Among this city's victims was the Countess De Rossi Vargas. Never in all Neapolitan history has this classic city experienced such stark-mad fright. A frenzied populace raced through the streets apparently heading nowhere.

Wrecked bridges, snapped communication wires, and other obstacles had been tossed in the path of the relief workers by the upheaval of nature. Motor cars made little progress over unaccustomed routes. The highways of the area are notoriously undeveloped and rail lines passed through many gorges into which the quake had tumbled avalanches.

Several tunnels upon the road to Melfi, where 16 persons perished, according to official figures, fell in and blocked service beyond restoration for many days.

Floods In England

Two Lives Lost In Consequence Of Cloudburst In Yorkshire

Whitby, Yorkshire, England.—Two lives are already known to have been lost, and other fatalities are feared, in consequence of a flood that followed upon a cloudburst in the valley of the Esk River.

The last connection with the village of Sleights, in the centre of the flood area, was severed late today when the telephone wires broke down.

Many families throughout the area are imprisoned in the upper floors of their houses.

The train service has been discontinued over a wide area. Spectacular rescues were effected by the life-saving crews, who did particularly effective work in Ruswarp. From one house a woman and four children, who had climbed to the roof, were hauled through the flood to safety by means of a breeches buoy brought into play by the coastguard.

From another house five people were rescued by the coastguards with life-saving apparatus at a time when the water had already reached the bedroom windows.

Twelve people were rescued from the upper story of a mill. The town crier of Whitby patrolled the streets and warned the populace that the water supply would last for only 48 hours. The pipes from the reservoir had been burst.

Aviation Pioneer Dead

Glenn H. Curtiss Did Not Lose Faith When Others Became Discouraged
Buffalo, N.Y.—Glenn H. Curtiss, widely known aviation pioneer, died in the General Hospital here.

Mr. Curtiss was brought to the hospital from his home at Hammondsport, N.Y., to undergo an operation for appendicitis. The operation was said to have been successful and he was reported recovering rapidly.

Mr. Curtiss came here with his husband and has been almost constantly at his bedside.

Hospital authorities stated death was due to pulmonary embolus, caused by a blood clot on one of the main arteries leading out of the heart.

Glenn H. Curtiss nurtured the young science of aviation in the middle years of its development, when fainter hearts had grown discouraged.

With a tomato can for a carburetor, he built his first motor bicycle in 1902. He continued to experiment with a light-weight motor and evolved his famous V-type motor, a departure in design reflected in the radial airplane engines of today. In 1904 he set a motor bicycle speed record at Ormond Beach, Fla. of 10 miles in eight minutes and 54 seconds, and in 1906, over the same course, travelled faster than man ever had before, a mile in 26 2/5 seconds.

His fame spread and drew the attention of the late Major Thomas Scott Baldwin, builder and operator of balloons. In 1904 the two men met in Hammondsport, and installed a Curtiss motor in Baldwin's balloon. With this machine they made a circular flight of Oakland, Cal., in August, 1904, first to fly that way. Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone, commissioned Curtiss to build a motor for a man-carrying kite. Gliders were experimented with for a time, and then the men turned their attention to power aeroplanes.

Terrified By Masked Rider

People In Hills Of Wyoming Receive Threatening Letters

Wheatlands, Wyo.—Death threats signed "The Phantom Rider" received by several Fletcher Park ranchers, has added to the uneasiness spread by the recent appearance of a masked horseman who rides the rugged Laramie peaks on a snow-white horse.

Five men and a woman are reported to have received the letters which were placed in the hands of officers seeking the "Phantom Rider" who recently rode into the yard of Charles Adams, 20, and shot the rancher through the shoulder.

Posses searched the hills following the attack but were unable to apprehend the mysterious horseman who is believed connected with recent cases of cattle rustling.

Compelled To Cancel

Official Engagement

Weather Conditions Forced Prince To Abandon Airplane Trip

London, England.—For the first time on record the Prince of Wales was forced to cancel an official engagement because of weather conditions.

Weather reports from Wales indicated flying conditions were impossible and the Prince cancelled an aeroplane flight which he had intended making from London to Carnarvon to open the Royal Welsh Agricultural Show. As it was impossible to reach Carnarvon from London by train in time for the opening, the whole engagement was abandoned.

No Reduction In Pay

Ottawa, Ont.—Department of railways and canals in a statement recently declared that men working on the Welland Canal were not reduced in pay as a result of the application of the eight-hour day and 44-hour week. All men, the statement said, will receive the same weekly wage as they did before parliament passed the legislation at the last session.

Air Tragedy Told

Aviator Makes Heroic Attempt To Save Life Of Youthful Passenger

Edmonton, Alberta.—A story of terrific storm and of a heroic battle by Dale Atkinson, Western Canada Airways pilot, in the freezing waters of Lake Niisku, Northern Saskatchewan, to save the life of his passenger, was told with the arrival of the body of the passenger, Woodrow "Chuck" Eagle, 17, of the Pas, Man., brought from the north by aeroplane.

Atkinson came out with the body in an aeroplane piloted by W. E. Gilbert.

Eagle died when Atkinson, running into a terrific windstorm which had attained the proportions of a typhoon, swung about, raced to Lake Niisku, landed and was pushing to shore. A cross gust of wind lifted one wing of the machine high in the air, toppled the aeroplane over on its back, and threw the occupants into the water.

Fighting his way down through the turbulent water, which had been swept into fury by the storm, Atkinson smashed his way into the cabin of the machine, found that his passenger was not there and dived several times in an effort to find him.

Near exhaustion, Atkinson gave up the uneven battle and swam the dozen yards to shore.

The fatality occurred on July 15, and the pilot waited until the water gave up the body, July 19.

U.S. Increases Population

Expect New Census To Show Population Of About 122,957,000

Washington, D.C.—A total of about 122,957,000 people—just a few thousand under 123,000,000—probably will be shown as the population of the United States for 1930, when the final count is announced here by Director W. M. Stewart, of the census. The 1929 population was 105,710,620. Should final figures bear out the calculation, the country would show a growth of around 17,246,000 people in the ten years.

This approximate total figure has been calculated by the Associated Press on the basis of actual preliminary returns from 40 states and the District of Columbia.

Scores Drowned At Coblentz

Pontoon Bridge Collapsed Under Strain Of Heavy Traffic

Coblentz, Germany.—Scores of persons were drowned in the collapse of a pontoon bridge here during celebration of the evacuation of the Rhine-land in which President Von Hindenburg had taken part. About 100 people were on the bridge when it crumbled.

An enormous crowd had gathered along the banks of the Rhine during the evening at the so-called "Deutsches Eck," where the Moselle River joins the Rhine.

They stood watching the display of fireworks and the illumination at the ancient castle of Ehrenbreitstein in honor of President Von Hindenburg's visit.

When the display was over, thousands of people tramped across the pontoon bridge, which leads to a place known as "Security Harbor." Suddenly, while about 100 persons were on the bridge, it collapsed under the strain of the unusual traffic.

Many were killed by falling timbers, and others were swept away in the black, swirling water and drowned before help could reach them.

In the darkness, which lately had been intermittently illuminated by the fireworks across the rivers, people could be heard splashing about and crying for help.

Rescuers immediately launched boats, but many of the victims could not be located.

ADMINISTRATION OF PEACE RIVER BLOCK BY B. C.

Victoria, B.C.—British Columbia takes over the administration of the Peace River block and the railway belt on August 1, under tentative plans announced by the government. Efforts are being made now to adjust the necessary administrative details by that date.

The actual transfer will be accomplished without the disturbance of existing administrative machinery. For the time being, federal officials will carry on. As soon as possible, however, the administration will be entirely overhauled to eliminate the present duplication by federal and provincial officials, particularly in the railway belt, where two sets of machinery have operated side by side for years. In some offices the provincial officials will be able to carry on alone, possibly with addition of one or two from federal territory. In the forestry department, however, it may be necessary for forest patrol in the large areas to be transferred.

Beatty Issues Statement

Detailed Information On Air Service To Be Announced Later

Montreal.—In reference to the newspaper reports with respect to possible aviation developments in Canada, Mr. E. W. Beatty, chairman and president of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, made the following statement:

"By amendments to its charter secured in 1919, the Canadian Pacific Railway Company was empowered to establish and operate services of aircraft of all kinds, and in recent years it has, through its express department, entered into contracts for express services with established Canadian air service companies. Discussions have taken place between the president of the Canadian National Railways and this company, looking to participation by both companies in the ownership of private companies, both in eastern and western Canada, and these discussions have proceeded to the point where an agreement in principle has been reached.

"It is anticipated that each of the transcontinental railways will have an equal interest, and when negotiations have been concluded an announcement in greater detail will, no doubt, be made."

Exponents of the Royal and Ancient Game went down to defeat on the Banff Springs Hotel golf course recently when Indian Archery experts played in a nine-hole foursome between two Indian chiefs, Lone Walker and Lone Eagle, and William Thompson, professional on the course, and his daughter, Peggy Dalgleish, former Alberta lady golf champion. The Indians shot their arrows from the trees while the golfers played in orthodox fashion. The archers "holed in" a four-inch disc standing on end on the cup. Up to the ninth hole the game was tied, but the Indians won the latter with one stroke.

The Plumbers Opera, opening number presented at Banff Springs Hotel by the Alfred Heather Light Opera Company, that is running a summer season at the well-known Rockies resort, proved an unqualified success, while "Tom Tug, the Young Waterman," which followed it, was an even greater hit. Average market price of maple syrup was $1.77 a gallon, and of maple sugar 17 cents a pound. CHAPTER XXI—Continued

Long after she had read the letter a second time and put it safely away in prospect of a third perusal, parts of it kept coming back to her, such as: "You ask why I should be inarticulate with you, 'of all people' I've sometimes wondered about that myself. Ask Grandma. Perhaps out of the wisdom of years she can explain that foolish self-consciousness on my part. . . . And lower down: "Of course I wasn't mad—not even hurt, just a little sore, maybe. I gave that deep down inside you didn't think me a Shylock anyhow—'you just didn't understand.' . . . So it was the dear old doctor who gave me away? . . . And near the end: "How's your boarder? According to Lizzie Baker he's about to settle down with a lady of my acquaintance 'for better, for worse,' etc. only in this case it would be a great deal better than he, or any other man deserves. If this happens to be idle gossip, Charmian, please pass the good word along. Yours always, Jim." "Well," said John Carter, rousing the girl from her reverie, "was it satisfactory?"

"You mean?" questioned Charmian as they started back.

"If I'm to the letter I was good enough to bring you," he replied.

She laughed happily.

"More than satisfactory. It took a load off my contrite mind. You see, John, I said something mean and hateful to Jim Bennett, before he went away. I didn't intend to be unjust; but I was, terribly. Now it's straightened out and . . ."

"God's in his heaven!" quoted the doctor as she hesitated.

"You're a marvelously understanding soul," she answered. "That's exactly the way I feel, only I don't think to express myself through 'showing.'"

He smiled, drew up under a lonely tree and stowed the car.

"Trouble?" asked Charmian, thinking of the engine.

"I hope not!" he replied. Then his face grew serious and he turned to her. "Charmian," he began, "now that you've digested that letter—got your mind cleared on the subject, in a way, I've something to tell you. Wait till this automobile passes, and . . ."

But the approaching automobile didn't pass. It stopped, and Ezra Bascomb's familiar face peered at them from behind the windshield.

"Hi, Doc!" he greeted. "One of Lizzie Moore's twins is back down with appendicitis. Doctor Howe wants you should hurry right along to the deacon's. He's waitin' fer you there."

"Thanks," shouted John Carter as Ezra, who was evidently in haste, sped on. Then he turned again to the girl, beside him, and added ruefully: "Like tide and time, appendicitis waits for no man. It's our confidential conversation that must wait. Do you mind if I drop you at the church? I ought to hurry."

CHAPTER XXII

Where's the doctor?" questioned Grandma, who was surprised to see the girl arrive on foot.

Charmian explained, while the old lady uttered an ejaculation.

"Dear me! Appendicitis!—and the deacon and Lizzie have just had word! Lizzie Baker told me the whole story. Maybe this trouble will bring 'em together again, though it's like as not to drive 'em farther apart, seeing as the fact what you'd call a love match. Well, dearie, you got your letter, didn't you? Did Jimmy tell you what his mother's up and done?"

Charmian laughed, tossed the old coat on a chair and kissed her grandmother.

"He told me everything. I was silly to get worked up, Grandma.—Of course Jim wasn't angry. He wrote as soon as he got my letter. Here!" Charmian drew the lengthy epistle from her pocket and tossed it into Grandma's lap. "There's nothing in it that you can't see. It's a darling letter."

"You read it out loud, dearie," Grandma smiled noting with thankfulness that the girl looked her sunny self again. "There's no hurry about supper with the doctor off hunting an appendix. I told you all along that Jim wasn't the boy to get a grudge. You sit with your feet over the register, Charmian, and get warmed up while you read to me."

Charmian was only too glad to obey, and her grandmother was an attentive audience.

"That sounds meat as if Jim was talking, doesn't it?" she commented when the letter was finished. "Read again what he says about his mother. She and Sophie always did look as alike as two peas; but that's where the resemblance ends. George K. used to say that Sophie (who was born half an hour ahead of Sarah), took all the usefulness there was, and didn't leave any for her twin! George was always a little hard on Sarah because he felt she ruined James Bennett's life. What was it Jim said about them, dearie?"

Charmian found the place and read: "I feel as if I had two mothers died at a sudden. It's a weird sensation, coming into a room and not being sure whether you're confronting your mother or your aunt! Joking aside, the resemblance is really startling. You get used to it. And how they love each other! Seeing them together has made me wish I had a twin—some one who'd understand me the way Mother and Aunt Sophie seem to understand each other. As for this ranch business—"

"He didn't say, did he," broke in Grandma, "whether he's going to run the farm for 'em? Seems if those two women were pretty old to start any such a thing. Sarah Bennett married late in life. She can't be a day under fifty—nor Sophie either."

"Well, naturally," laughed Charmian, "considering that they're twins! No, Jim didn't mention that part of it."

"Nor say what they'd do with the Wickfield house," went on Grandma, exasperated at this oversight. "Men are terribly unsatisfactory about details. I remember a parish meeting thirty-odd years ago when there was an awful fight. I was sick with a cold and couldn't go; and what you believe it, when your grandfather came home all he said was that 'there seemed to be a little unpleasantness.' He never so much as mentioned how Edgar Purdie shook his fist in the face of the parish clerk (it was Emmy Bascomb's father and as meek a little man as ever lived), and went off slamming the door behind him; or how Mrs. Garfield got so excited she had hysterics right in the vestry and had to be carried out. I never heard a word about it till next day when Lizzie Baker run in to borrow a yeast cake. I wonder, child, if Jim is coming back to Wickfield."

"And leave his mother running a fruit ranch?" gasped Charmian. "If Jim ever does a thing like that, Grandma, I'll look for the end of the world. It's a wonder Mrs. Bennett let him go to San Francisco that week without her. Oh, dear! how can a woman with a nice son like Jim be such a tyrant?"

"I've been thinking that maybe Sophie will see how the land lies, and give Sarah a good talking to," replied Grandma. "Sarah'll take from her what she wouldn't take from anybody else, even James Bennett, and in her own way she loved him, too. Mrs. Merry was in a minute after Lizzie left, Charmian. She said to tell you they'd had a long letter from Madge, and that the baby'd got another tooth. It does seem strange to think of Madge having a baby, doesn't it? It makes you seem like a—well . . ."

"An old maid!" suggested Charmian, rising. "You may as well get used to it, Grandma. An old maid schoolmarm when—"

"Shucks!" interrupted Grandma with indignation. "I guess you don't need to be an old maid unless you want to. Like are you going to tell Jimmy about that idle gossip he's heard talk of?"

Charmian laughed, but she flushed also, and answered: "I think I'll forget that question, Grandma. It's none of his business."

"I guess he thinks 'tis," responded Grandma wisely; then with a sudden change of subject: "I wish you'd make milk toast for supper, dearie. If I'd sort of relish it tonight. And be sure you have some cocoa on the stove in the double boiler. The doctor'll be home late, and most frozen, night like this. Look here, Charmian," she added as the girl turned toward the kitchen, "I didn't understand what Jim meant by saying he'd appoint you his deputy in the matter of Towser and Mouser."

"That was merely a bit of sentiment," smiled Charmian. "I'll explain about it later, but now I must hurry with our meal. You want a lamp, Grandma? It's almost dark."

"No, child. I like to sit here this time of day and see the lights come on in the kitchen windows, and watch folks hurrying home to sup-

Decided to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Moncton, New Brunswick—"Before my last baby was born I was very weak, nervous and discouraged. I saw in the paper about a woman who had been like me so I bought a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took three bottles and I carried me safely through that critical time. I have three children to care for and I feel well and strong. I have told two other women about your medicine."

Mrs. C. O. SAWYER, 22 Albert Street, Moncton, New Brunswick.

WHOLE FAMILY HAD DYSENTERY

Dysentery is one of the worst forms of bowel complaint and should be checked at once as its termination often proves fatal.

Mrs. H. F. Stewart, Findlater, Sask., writes:—"Two years ago we were all very bad with attacks of dysentery. My husband got a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry and after taking three bottles we were completely relieved. Since then we have never been without a bottle of it in the house."

per. Sometimes I can't make out who they are, but I always know they're glad the day's work is done and they're going home. Many's the time I've sat here in the twilight with your grandfather and watched the 'shadows of the evening steal across the sky,' as the vespers hymn says. I'm never homesick this time of day as some folks are. I guess it makes me feel the way you felt one night when you were just a mite of a thing and I was putting you to bed. Your mother'd been in the habit of leaving a light turned low in the hall outside your door—sort of to keep you company; but that night she was at a church supper and after you said your prayers I sat down on your little bed and repeated the twenty-third psalm.

"I can see you now, looking up at me so soberly and listening to every word like a grown-up. Well, I kissed you, and gave the bedclothes a last tuck, and said: 'Good-night, child, I'll be with the light, same as Mother does,' and what do you suppose you answered? You said, just as solemn as anything, 'No, Grandma. The Lord is my shepherd, I shall not want—a light.'"

"Oh, Grandma!" cried the girl, as she visioned the little Charmian of long ago. "You never told me that before."

"Didn't I? Well, I've thought of it enough times, goodness knows. It came into my dream the minute you asked if I'd like a lamp. You see, dearie, I'm not afraid of the twilight even though it's a time of memories. . . . The Lord is my shepherd. I shall not want a light."

Dust Causes Asthma. Even a little speck too small to see will lead to agonies which no words can describe. The walls of the bronchial tubes contract and it seems as if the very life must die from this constricting force. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy brings the user to perfect rest. It relieves the spasms and normal breathing is firmly established again. Hundreds of testimonials received annually prove its effectiveness.

Canadian Goods In British Daily Life

Always Something To Remind People Of Dominion's Products

"What the pure holds for Canadian products in the United Kingdom can be judged in the light of today," said Douglas S. Cole, B.Sc., Canadian Trade Commissioner, at Bristol, England, in an interview at Toronto. "The modern Englishman can rise in the morning from a Canadian-made bed on to a Canadian carpet, shave with a Canadian razor, come down to breakfast and eat Canadian cereals, Canadian bacon, Canadian eggs, and toast made from Canadian flour, all cooked on a Canadian gas or electric range, and kept wholesome in a Canadian refrigerator, while he reads a newspaper printed on Canadian paper. He can drive in a Canadian car to an office equipped with Canadian furniture, dictate letters on Canadian paper, which he signs with a Canadian fountain pen. He reduces his weight by a Canadian massage roller, plays racquets in Canadian rubber shoes, tries to look graceful on Canadian skates, and gives his doctor to starvation with Canadian apples."

Little Helps For This Week

"Master, what shall I do to inherit eternal life?"—Luke x. 25.

I do not ask that Thou wilt bless. With gifts of heavenly sort my day. So much as that my hands may dress The borders of my lowly way. With constant deeds of good and right, Thereby reflecting heavenly light.

Good deeds are very fruitful; out of one good action of ours the Lord produces a thousand, the harvest whereof is perpetual."—Bishop Hall.

Miller's Worm Powders are a pleasant medicine for worm-infested children, and they will take it without objection. When directions are followed it will not injure the most delicate child, as there is nothing of an injurious nature in its composition. They will speedily rid a child of worms and restore the health of the little sufferers whose vitality has become impaired by the attacks of these internal pests.

Signatures On The Roof

Copper Plates On Stockholm Town Hall Bear Name Of Donor

Ragnar Ostberg, who has just been made a Royal Academician, is probably the most famous architect in Europe. His fame rests largely on the wonderful town hall which he designed for his native Stockholm, and which has been inspected by visitors from all over the world. It cost nearly a million pounds to build and it was decorated by a remarkable team of artists, which included a prince of the Royal House. The roof is composed of copper plates, each one of which is inscribed with the name of the citizen who paid for it, and the floor of one of the magnificent halls was made by the workmen, on their own initiative, out of odd pieces of marble left over from other building operations.

CHILDREN CRY FOR IT—

CHILDREN hate to take medicine as a rule, but every child loves the taste of Castoria. And this pure vegetable preparation is just as good as its taste; just as bland and just as harmless as the recipe reads.

When Baby's cry warns of colic, a few drops of Castoria has him soothed, asleep again in a jiffy. Nothing is more valuable in diarrhoea. When coated tongue or bad breath tell of constipation, invoke its gentle aid to cleanse and regulate a child's bowels. In colic or children's diseases, you should use it to keep the system from clogging.

Castoria is sold in every drugstore; the genuine always bears Chas. H. Fletcher's signature.

German Day Celebration in Edmonton.

On Sunday Aug. 3rd the third annual celebration of German Day will take place in Edmonton. All Germans, German-speaking people and friends of Germans are heartily invited to attend. Germans who have found a new domicile in Canada and Alberta are anxious to be worthy of their new home and to ultimately become true Canadians.

But still we are conscious, writes the German paper Der Herald, Edmonton, that we owe something to the country from which we originated. Even here a day should be set aside to the memory of our native land, a day upon which we shall all together honor it and rejoice.

Miss Agnes MacPhail, the only woman member of the House of Commons in the last Parliament, has not only been doing her own electioneering in Southeast Grey but has also used her own car for long campaign trips, during which she extended a helping hand to United Farmer candidates in other ridings.
